

Lok Sabha elections 2024

Abhay Gaur

RA2111003011682

Project for Data Analytics Role

INTRODUCTION

Number of Parliamentary Constituencies: India has a total of 543 Parliamentary constituencies spread across the country.

Number of Registered Voters: As of recent elections, India has had over 900 million registered voters, making it the largest democratic electorate in the world.

Key Insights

1. Election Results Dashboard

- The dashboard provides a detailed breakdown of the election results.
- Party-wise vote share and the number of seats won are highlighted.
- A clear majority by BJP is evident, with other parties having smaller representations.

2. Votes Distribution by Party

- Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) has the majority vote share with 52.4%.
- Indian National Congress (INC) follows with 14.8%.
- Several other parties hold smaller shares, indicating a fragmented vote distribution among the rest.

3. Histogram of Margin of Victory

- The histogram shows a high frequency of low margin victories.
- Most victories have a margin between 0 to 200,000 votes.
- Few constituencies have a margin of victory exceeding 1,000,000 votes.

4. Comparison of Votes for Rahul Gandhi, Narendra Modi, and Amit Shah

- Amit Shah in Gandhinagar has the highest votes, exceeding 700,000.
- Rahul Gandhi's votes in Rae Bareilly and Wayanad are close, around 400,000 each.
- Narendra Modi has around 200,000 votes in Varanasi.

5. Number of Seats Won by Each Party

- Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) leads with approximately 250 seats.
- Indian National Congress (INC) follows with around 100 seats.
- Other parties such as Samajwadi Party, AIADMK, DMK, TDP, JD(U), and several others have a significantly lower number of seats.

6. General Election to Assembly Constituencies: Odisha (2024)

- Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) leads with 53.1%, which is 78 seats.
- Biju Janata Dal (BJD) follows with 51 seats, making up 34.7%.
- Indian National Congress (INC) has 14 seats, accounting for 9.5%.
- Communist Party of India (Marxist) (CPI(M)) and Independents hold a minor share with 1 and 3 seats, respectively.

7. General Election to Assembly Constituencies: Andhra Pradesh (AP) 2024

- Telugu Desam Party (TDP) dominates with 77.1% of the seats, translating to 135 seats.
- Janasena Party (JnP) has 21 seats, making up 12.0%.
- Yuvajana Sramika Rythu Congress Party (YSRCP) holds 11 seats, constituting 6.3%.
- Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) has 8 seats, which is 4.6%.

8. Top 10 Trailing Parties by Votes

- The Indian National Congress (INC) is leading among the trailing parties with over 35 million votes.
- Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) follows with approximately 20 million votes.
- Other notable parties include AIADMK, YSRCP, CPI(M), SP, BJD, RJD, BSP, and AAP with significantly fewer votes compared to INC and BJP.

9. General Election to Assembly Constituencies: Rajasthan (2024)

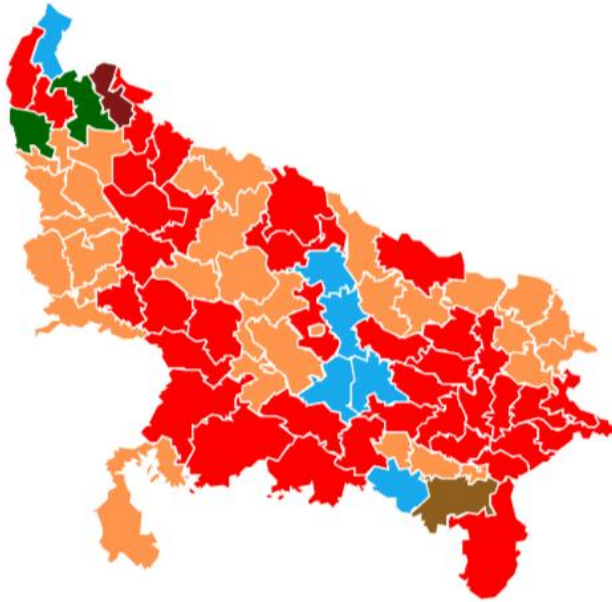

- Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP): Leads with 14 seats.
- Indian National Congress (INC): Follows with 8 seats.
- Rashtriya Loktantrik Party (RLTP): Gains 1 seat.

10. Election to Assembly Constituencies: Uttar Pradesh (2024)

10. Election to Assembly Constituencies: Uttar Pradesh (2024)

- Samajwadi Party (SP): Emerges as the leading party with 37 seats.
- Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP): Follows closely with 33 seats.
- Indian National Congress (INC): Secures 6 seats

CONCLUSION

- BJP has emerged as the leading party in terms of seats and vote share in the 2024 Lok Sabha Elections.

- INC is the primary opposition, trailing significantly behind BJP.
- Regional parties like TDP in Andhra Pradesh and BJD in Odisha have strongholds in their respective states.
- The data indicates a fragmented political landscape with a mix of national and regional parties sharing the vote base.

REFERENCES

1. <https://results.eci.gov.in/>